In the Matter of
THE JANE CASE HUGHES
REVOCABLE TRUST

Case No. C-15-cv-26-000381

*****

TRUSTEE’S REPLY TO INTERESTED PERSON’S RESPONSE TO MOTION FOR ORDER COMPELLING
RELEASE OF UBS ACCOUNT RESTRICTIONS

Comes now, Carolina Reid as Trustee of the Jane Casey Hughes Revocable Trust, by counsel, and files this Reply to the Interested Person, John Michael Kuczynski’s, Response for the Order Compelling Release of the UBS Account Restrictions and states in support:

In Dr. Kuczynski’s Opposition he states:

If UBS generated the letter without a date, then counsel's representation is accurate and Respondent will not oppose release of the accounts.

Opp. at 1.

It is unclear the causal connection between the authenticity of the letter and Trustee’s right to administer the funds, but the question is moot. Attached hereto is a communication from outside counsel for UBS Financial Services, Inc. confirming that the letter presented to the court regarding the bank restrictions did NOT contain a date when sent to the Trustee, and accordingly was unaltered by the Trustee or counsel when submitted to the Courts. The letter was sent directly to the Trustee on January 6, 2026, consistent with the repeated representations that the restrictions occurred in late December or early January after Dr. Kuczynski filed his motions in the District of Columbia Superior Court, Probate Division and notified UBS. See Exhibit 1 and 2.<sup>1</sup>

WHEREFORE, Carolina Reid, as Trustee of the Jane Casey Hughes Revocable Trust, respectfully requests that this Court grant the order compelling the release of the UBS Financial Service account restrictions on the Trust's accounts.

Dated: April 9, 2026

Respectfully submitted,

<sup>1</sup> Dr. Kuczynski confuses the best evidence rule as it applies to this issue. The verification of counsel for UBS Financial Services, Inc. is sufficient evidence to authenticate the document for these purposes. See Md. Rule 5-901(b)(1).
